

Non-pallet vertical garden

These ideas could be done without bothering with the pallets. We could get the kids to collect and decorate the containers at school and then plant and create a hanging display at the garden.

It would fit with recycling/ environmental studies in the curriculum as well as art.

We would just need hooks and maybe heavy grade fishing line and a tool to punch holes in the bottles

Vertical pallet gardens

These are the simplest designs I could find using pallets. The top one doesn't require any change to the pallet so it would just be a matter of decorating and planting. The other 2 require minor modification and will be able to hold more plants.
